When my daughter was a senior at MAST, I was given a task as an active member of the PSTA, to look for a preparatory course program for the juniors and seniors to enroll in order to prepare them for the SAT. I interviewed and presented to the faculty three companies. Out of those three they chose Solution Prep and we couldn't be happier.

Solution Prep came to MAST right after school. Speaking from my daughter's experience and I heard from other students as well, having the class right after school was great because they were already on a learning mode and that helped them focus better. They didn't have to drive anywhere and be in a different mindset. I was told Eric was organized, engaging and made the lessons fun.

Personally, as a parent, I love the college planning seminars Solution Prep offered to the parents. These seminars explained the FAFSA process and even walked us through in filling in the application. One of my favorite subjects in the seminar was the tips given to us on college negotiating which was so helpful. Every penny counts.

We were very happy with Solution Prep and we highly recommend them.

Regarding: Eric Ginsberg - Solution Prep

Eric gave an outstanding presentation to the CHS parents. He included a lot of information which is useful to parents of prospective college students. The advice and insight he offered will be beneficial as parents of seniors negotiate with colleges prior to enrolling their child and useful to parents of younger students as they begin their college search. He was concise, informative and humorous. Our parents felt comfortable asking questions and he took the time to answer them. His knowledge and expertise are something all parents can benefit from.
